
##Introduction to a blog post about hacking facebook and obtaining passwords: It's no surprise Facebook is one of the most popular social networking sites in the world. People have been hijacking accounts for years, giving them anything from a "better" name to more friends. Oh, and don't forget all that personal information which can be collected from people's profiles! After all, you may not know your best friend's 4-digit passcode, but their Facebook password? Piece of cake. This usually isn't a big deal for Facebook users because all of their friends are already on the network, which makes it easier to find people. This is also the reason that many people are still on Facebook despite rumors that everyone has moved on. So, what's the big deal with hacking? Well, hacking gives you access to everything on someone's account without them knowing it. But how do you get started? There are two basic methods, one of which comes from your browser or program of choice and the other via customized software. Let's start with what to do if you're using Firefox or any other browser. Step 1: Go to Facebook and log in normally. Step 2: Go to your friend's profile. The URL should look something like this: <http://www.facebook.com/username> Step 3 : Copy the address of your friend's profile in your browser's "address bar." For example, if you are trying to obtain someone's password for their Facebook page, you'd copy the URL for that page here. Step 4 : Add &rft_value=1 after the end of it. It should look like this when you're finished: http://www.facebook.com/xxxx&rft_value=1 (the x's are placeholders for where you'd put in the friend's username. Just remember this for later.) Step 5: Go to your browser's search bar and type in "hack". In this case, you'd want it to look like this: hackfacebookhacker.com

This is a good website for hacking facebook passwords, but there are many others. Just be aware that some of them can be very dangerous. Always do your research before downloading a program from a site you've never seen before, and avoid third-party sites unless they have been recommended by a friend or have been around for some time. Step 6: Download the program. This can be done in several ways, but none are very difficult. Some people use links on third-party sites, while others download programs directly from their websites. Either way you choose to do it, go here: <http://www.facebookpassword.com/downloads/facebook-password-software/> Step 7 : Install the program on your computer if you haven't already. Check it for viruses. The bottom of the webpage explains some of the information you'll need for this program, including some small images that allow stealing passwords online and on iPhone or Android devices . It also gives instructions to get started with hacking someone's account.
